

ABOUT US

Web Commerce Group (WCG) is a software technology company that builds private-label wireline and wireless Internet applications and delivers them as a managed service for business. WCG also provides consulting services in niche areas in which it has core competencies. Located in Raleigh, in the world-renown Research Triangle region of North Carolina, WCG firmly stands for excellence, innovation, and integrity.

SERVICE OFFERINGS

WCG has expertise in on-demand computing, open source software, service oriented architecture, and wireless Internet. These are our core competencies, underpinning two business lines: ArkdomSM Managed Services and Consulting Services. The Arkdom Managed Services represent a portfolio of Internet applications developed and delivered through our core competencies. We apply the same approach to Consulting Services, providing end-to-end consulting services in the areas where our core competencies are aligned. In other words, we consult only those areas where our expertise can be maximized to benefit clients.

ARKDOMSM Managed Services

Included in the portfolio of Arkdom Managed Services at the present time are two products: Arkdom Commerce Affiliate and Arkdom PLUS. WCG will continue to expand this portfolio by adding more products in the future. Arkdom Commerce Affiliate (ACA) is a patent-pending, new-to-the-world marketing tool that maximizes brand power and retail relationships to satisfy online customers. Brand owners can immerse customers in their brand from their website all the way to checkout, and assure fulfillment of the desired product at the retailer's website. Through the power of ACA, brand owners and retailers team up to levels not possible before to strengthen brand image and increase customer satisfaction.

Arkdom PLUS is a software component that provides wireless websites and applications comprehensive information about wireless devices, software, gateways and networks. This information consists of both factual profile information and intelligent information. Factual information consists of characteristics and specifications of wireless devices, software, gateways, and networks and is also referred to as user agent (UA) profile information. Arkdom PLUS also provides intelligent information about the interoperability of these components as an added value through its Active Intelligence Engine.

Consulting Services

In addition to Arkdom Managed Services, WCG provides consulting services, specifically in on-demand computing, open source software, service oriented architecture, and wireless Internet. We have acquired our expertise in each one of these services over the years through R&D and practical, hands-on experience with developing applications for Arkdom Managed Services and clients ranging from small to Global 500 companies. Our clients greatly benefit from this expertise and our ability to tailor consulting services to best accommodate the clients' needs regardless of which phase they are in with their projects.

One notable service is consulting in open source software (OSS). OSS has been featured as one of the "10 Tech Trends to Bet On" in the February 2004 issue of Fortune magazine.

WCG provides comprehensive, end-to-end consulting services. These services cover every phase of a client's project, starting from Assessment Service, while putting direct focus on return on investment and total cost of ownership; we assess a client's business and technical environments to ascertain an overall fit with using OSS and make appropriate recommendations. Clients can pick and choose whichever service(s) they may need from the eight building block services shown in the above diagram.
